TEACHER FEATURE

Freshman year can be a difficult one with many new experiences, but Mrs. Lisa Young's freshman ELA students are preparing in a unique way for the challenges that lay before them. Each year students create their own "bucket list" for high school. As evidenced by her bulletin board full of ideas, Mrs. Young models this process for students by sharing her own bucket list for the year. Some students desire to be in a play, join a sports team, go on a trip, or be in a club. This "bucket list" is really helping students to identify SMART (specific, measurable, attainable, realistic, and timely) goals and break down the necessary steps to achieving those goals. Students revisit their goals for relationships, skills, and things that they want to do quarterly. Thanks for helping our youngest Chargers reach their full potential, Mrs. Young!

MEET THE TEACH

Please welcome, Mrs. Elizabeth Jex to our ELA team here at CCHS! Mrs. Jex, a BYU grad and California native, has been married to her husband Chris for 23 years. They have four kids, and two have them have graduated from CCHS! Sam (21) and Sadie (almost 19) are both headed to BYU this fall. Sam just got home from his LDS mission in Norway this summer. Julia is a sophomore at CCHS currently, and Ian is in 8th grade at DPMS. She and her husband first met in California after her freshman year at BYU. They met at church where he was visiting his sister. Right after they were introduced, her boyfriend came up and dragged her away, but she had been really impressed with Kris. They ran into each other at BYU, and he'd write her emails while she was studying abroad in London. She eventually broke up with said boyfriend. She and Chris got married in 2001, lived in Las Vegas for 10 years, and came to Utah about 13 years ago. They have a dog named, Bingley--- yes, after "Mr. Bingley" of Pride and Prejudice. She's an English teacher through and through! We are so happy you are here, Mrs. Jex!

Builders' Day is a career exploration event unlike any other. You'll have the chance to hear from professionals working in various construction roles. You will meet architects, engineers, project managers, and craft workers. You'll learn about the day-to-day tasks they perform, the education and training required for their jobs, and the rewards and challenges of working in their fields.

In addition to exploring the different career paths available to you as a future builder, you'll also have the opportunity to participate in hands-on activities and demonstrations.

SENIOR PARENTS: Did you know the CCHS PTSA awards one or more scholarships each spring to graduating seniors? In order to apply, students must be a member of the PTSA, so register your senior today!
