VI. Adding an Advisory Class

Katie Campbell and Andrew Yawn led a discussion regarding a proposed 30-minute advisory period for a future year. The strategic intent is to bridge the gap between academic instruction and holistic student support, ensuring every student has a consistent connection with at least one adult on campus.

1. Institutional Grounding: The model is based on successful, evidence-backed structures used at Alta High School and Hillcrest High School.
2. Anticipated Benefits: Weekly grade checks, teaching of executive functioning skills, and protected time for interventions without sacrificing core instructional minutes.
3. Identified Challenges:
 1. Logistics: Moving the start time from 7:55 AM to 7:45 AM to align with all other district high schools, which may impact middle school transportation.
 2. Workload: Teacher Representative Ashley Ekenstam raised valid concerns regarding the additional preparation, attendance tracking for rotations, and the burden on high-impact departments like Mathematics.

VII. Counseling Corner (Angie Burton)

Outlined fall counseling priorities, including individual Senior CCR meetings, the Senior Silver Star information sheet (covering October College Application Week, Parchment transcripts, and financial aid), 10th-grade ASVAB career aptitude testing, and 9th-grade self-advocacy "Grit" lessons.
